

Sustainability perspectives on contemporary fisheries. Where have all the fishes gone?

Course schedule fall 2020 MX0143

Tuesdays, September 1, 2020 – January 12, 2021 (equivalent to 5 weeks, study pace: 25%)

Time: 17:30 – 20:00 (GMT+2, Stockholm – keep an eye out for change in accordance to daylight saving time changes!)

Location: Online, Zoom: <https://slu-se.zoom.us/j/63525905291>

Date	Lecture
1 September	1. Course introduction. Josefin Sundin
8 September	2. Introduction, where have all the fishes gone? Jonas Hentati-Sundberg
15 September	3. Fish as a food resource. Malin Jonell
22 September	4. Prepare interview (part of examination)
29 September	5. Current research: management based on ecosystems. Andreas Bryhn
6 October	6. Prepare interview (part of examination)
13 October	7. The fishing industry. Henrik Österblom
20 October	8. Bycatches and developing equipment. Sara Königsson
27 October	9. Recreational fishing. Göran Sundblad
3 November	10. Group discussion interview (part of examination)
10 November	11. Social sustainability in fisheries. Milena Arias-Schreiber
17 November	12. Perform interview (part of examination)
24 November	13. Evolutionary induced effects of fishing. Shaun Killen
1 December	14. Presentation of interviews (examination)
8 December	15. Continued presentation of interviews (examination)
15 December	16. To be announced
12 January	17. Course wrap-up. Josefin Sundin

Lecturers:

Josefin Sundin	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Jonas Hentati-Sundberg	SLU Aqua, Lysekil
Malin Jonell	Beijer Institute and Stockholm Resilience Centre
Andreas Bryhn	SLU Aqua, Öregrund
Henrik Österblom	Stockholm Resilience Centre
Sara Königsson	SLU Aqua, Lysekil/Öregrund
Göran Sundblad	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Milena Arias-Schreiber	University of Gothenburg
Shaun Killen	University of Glasgow