

Sustainability perspectives on contemporary fisheries

Where have all the fishes gone?

Preliminary course schedule, fall 2021 MX0143

---

August 2021 – January 2022 (study pace: 25%, equivalent to 5 weeks)

Tuesdays, 17:30 – 20:00 (GMT+2, Stockholm – keep an eye out for change in accordance to daylight saving time changes!)

Location: Online, Zoom:

<https://slu-se.zoom.us/j/67891838885>

Passcode: 111111

Date	Lecture
31 August	1. Course introduction. Josefin Sundin
7 September	2. Introduction, where have all the fishes gone? Jonas Hentati-Sundberg
14 September	3. Marine protected areas. Stefan Skoglund
21 September	4. Current research: management based on ecosystems. Andreas Bryhn
28 September	5. Prepare interview (no scheduled lecture)
5 October	6. Fish as a food resource. Malin Jonell
12 October	7. Bycatches and developing equipment. Sara Königsson
19 October	8. Prepare interview (no scheduled lecture)
26 October	9. Recreational fishing. Göran Sundblad
2 November	10. Group discussion interview
9 November	11. Social sustainability in fisheries. Milena Arias-Schreiber
16 November	12. Perform interview (no scheduled lecture)
23 November	13. Evolutionary induced effects of fishing. Shaun Killen
30 November	14. Presentation of interviews
7 December	15. Continued presentation of interviews and handing out exam
4 January	16. Deadline, handing in exam (no scheduled lecture)
11 January	17. Course wrap-up. Josefin Sundin and Stefan Skoglund

Course organizer

Josefin Sundin
josefin.sundin@slu.se SLU Aqua, Drottningholm

Course assistant

Stefan Skoglund
stefan.skoglund@slu.se SLU Aqua, Drottningholm

Lecturers:

Josefin Sundin	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Stefan Skoglund	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Jonas Hentati-Sundberg	SLU Aqua, Lysekil
Stefan Skoglund	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Andreas Bryhn	SLU Aqua, Öregrund
Malin Jonell	Beijer Institute and Stockholm Resilience Centre
Sara Königsson	SLU Aqua, Lysekil/Öregrund
Göran Sundblad	SLU Aqua, Drottningholm
Milena Arias-Schreiber	University of Gothenburg
Shaun Killen	University of Glasgow